

ABSTRACT

A refrigeration system trapping device and method traps airborne liquid water and ice particles before they accumulate on evaporator coils, reducing frost deposition on the evaporator. The frost on the trapping device can be actively removed.